

Private Security Protects Our Nation

Guarding Critical Infrastructure

Securing our Homeland

Protecting Lives and Property

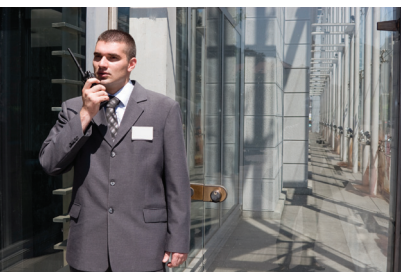

Private security protects over 85% of our nation's critical infrastructure sites. In many instances, private security is the first to respond in a crisis.

Raising Standards for Private Security Saves Lives and Protects Property

Members of NASCO, the National Association of Security Companies, are leading the effort to increase professionalism in private security.

- Increasing minimum training standards
- Better access to criminal records checks of security officer candidates
- Ensuring strong government regulation and enforcement of private security standards
- Reforming government security contracting standards to emphasize quality as well as cost

NASCO Members – Leading the Way

NASCO and its member companies are leading the way, raising the bar across the industry.

Find out more about how we can protect our homeland and ensure public safety by raising standards in private security. Visit us online at www.nasco.org

NASCO
National Association of Security Companies